DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Arena et al (US 5,635,093).

Arena et al also shows a ceramic heater including a ceramic substrate with a heating element embedded therein with a bottom hole formed relatively nearer to the heating surface than the heating element for providing a temperature sensor such as a thermocouple therein.

Arena et al further shows a control unit for supplying electric power to a plurality of plurality of heating circuits, a memory unit and operating/regulating unit for storing the measured temperature and for processing the power necessary to achieve the desired heating temperature.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 14-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Arena et al (US 5,635,093) in view of Ushikoshi et al (US 5,306,895) or Hecht et al (US 5,877,475).

Art Unit: 3742

Arena et al shows the ceramic heater claimed except the temperature measuring element is a sheath type thermocouple that is also pressed or sealed in the bottom hole with an insulator.

Ushikoshi et al show a sheath thermocouple provided in the bottom hole of the bottom surface of a ceramic heater. Hecht et al also shows a sheath thermocouple that is pressed on the bottom surface of the ceramic heater with an elastic body such as a spring and also with an insulator.

In view of Ushikoshi or Hecht et al, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to adapt Arena et al with the sheath thermocouple along with the spring and an insulator to make a direct contact with the temperature measuring surface to more accurately measure the temperature and further apply the spring means to make a close contact with the surface and the insulator to insulate the temperature sensor from external heat.
